

Bolia's novelties for the living room

Bolia has always focused on the quality of its designs. In collaboration with designers from all over the world, the AW21 collection by Bolia is developed around the idea of naturalness, ethics and craftsmanship. The result is luxurious, high quality and unique products, each handcrafted by European manufacturers.

The spirit of Scandinavian nature is about to enter homes again, especially living rooms, thanks to the AW21 collection by Bolia from which the brand wants to highlight new products. Filled with a soft, warm atmosphere, Bolia's new collection is dreamlike and calm, with its palette of burnt colors and soothing hues. Natural tones are dominant and take over the interior, while always leaving space for freedom and creativity to unfold. The concept is to create an interior in your own image because as Bolia says, "No One Lives Like You"

Tuk Coffee Table

It's time for natural colours and materials to find their way back into homes. The large Tuk and Graceful coffee tables will immediately find their place in a living room. The large Tuk table, with its pleasant roundness, brings softness to the space it occupies, illuminating it with its luxurious design by Büro Famos. The top is made of black, brown or grey/white marble or sand-colored travertine. The legs are made of natural oiled oak, stained or pigmented white. So many combinations that will delight the relaxation spaces of a home.

Graceful Coffee Table

The Graceful coffee table, created by the designer Michael H. Nielsen and part of the collection of the same name also consisting of dining tables and desks, is made of oiled oak, which can be selected in black, natural or white pigmented. Its square shape will perfectly fit the corner of a sofa with a lounge, like the Cosy 3 Modules designed by Glismand & Rüdiger, also available at Bolia. The materials can be customised: fabric, leather, classic or corduroy and wool will allow it to fit in any space. Each of them has several colours, pushing the personalisation to its paroxysm.

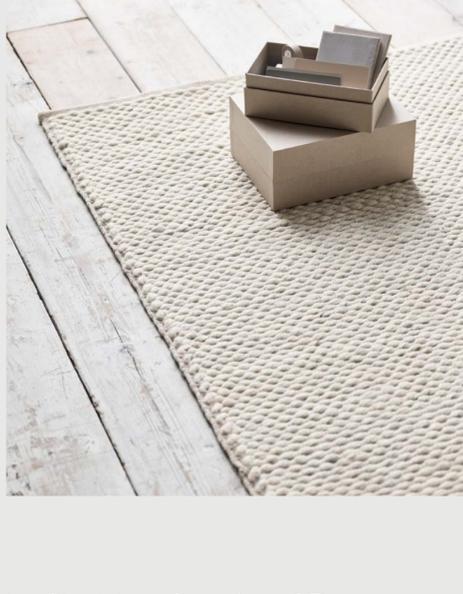

Scandinavian design

This is also the case for one of the major novelties of this collection: the Elton sofa. With its clean silhouette, surrounded by a wooden structure that seems to float above the ground, embellished with soft cushions. Its timeless line highlights Bolia's Scandinavian heritage but also the meticulous craftsmanship that brings the pieces in this series to life, just like the other new items in this outstanding collection.

Fuuga Nesting Armchair

Another novelty of the AW21 collection by Bolia: the Fuuga armchair. Its design, created by Busetti Garuti Redaelli, is innovative and impactful. The oversized seat of the armchair gives it an unmistakable style and class, which is a winner in any room. The backrest has noise reduction characteristics, ensuring serenity as well as concentration. Also customisable as desired, it is possible to find it in wool, fabric, classic or corduroy and in many colours. The legs, discreet and straight, in the continuity of its design, are made of oiled oak, available in black, natural and white pigmented

Finally, what would a living room or a library be without the cosiness of a rug? The new Zen, Braid, Alve, Funo, Dalvik, Brida and Scandinavia series invite themselves into the homes and bring with them their delicate shapes and appearances. Round, braided, woolen, rustic or woven according to particular techniques, they are all hand woven, because with the exception of the Zen and Funo collections, they are each unique with quality materials such as wool or organic cotton. In fact, the Zen collection, created by designer Emily Broom, won the Bolia Design Awards in 2020. Inspired by the young designer's peaceful, everyday life, this collection is bold and unmistakably reminiscent of the Japanese Zen garden, from which she drew her inspiration.
