

Two desks, bringing creativity home

Combining productivity and peace of mind: this is the main idea behind Bolia's "The Work from Home Collection". Acentric and Graceful are two desks characterised by the timeless elegance of wood, with expressions joined by the DNA of New Scandinavian Design.

Acentric and Graceful Desk are two new SS21 products added to the curated collection "The Work from Home Collection" by Bolia. In line with the new habits we have adopted, the brand has assembled a collection of pieces designed to compose a place of concentration and reflection, a space anchored in beauty and peace of mind, which combine productivity and tranquillity. Having access to a workspace at home that is aesthetic, functional and practical is extremely important today. The office is one of the key elements.

Graceful

Graceful already existed as a table. The Danish designer Michael H. Nielsen's creativity has now been translated into a desk, still based on the motto "Less is more". Details are kept to a minimum, allowing this piece to fit into many different decorative atmospheres. The natural beauty of its FSC™-certified wood expresses itself freely and conveys a certain ambient serenity. Designed for efficiency, productivity and creativity, Graceful is ideal for a home workspace, combined with a comfortable chair chosen from The Work from Home Collection. (FSC®-C165134)

Acentric

With its light silhouette and contrasting legs, the Acentric desk combines flexibility and functionality in an aesthetic expression full of personality. Designed by HI.HI. STUDIO, Acentric is a blank canvas, a creative starting point. Functional details complete its pure look, such as a discreet cable duct, leaving the way open for ideas to blossom freely. Just like Graceful, Acentric is made of FSC™ certified wood.

Michael H. Nielsen

Michael H. Nielsen successfully completed his studies at Danmarks Designskole before being chosen to work at the furniture design studio Sven Ellekærs. Since the 1980s, he has had his own design studio in which he has designed hundreds of products. One of his major preoccupations is to understand the diversity of people in order to try to meet their needs.

HI.HI. STUDIO

Behind HI.HI. STUDIO are two sisters: Elisabeth and Gesine Hillmann. Convinced that meaningful design is created by merging experience and different industries, they are greatly inspired by notions such as user-friendliness, simplicity, and user orientation. Their goal is to design products with a sincere story to tell and an aesthetic appearance. Every time.
