

New designs from Bolia's Spring Collection: Create calm and cohesive outdoor spaces

The flourishing spring season is finally here for Bolia to unveil their new outdoor designs for 2023. This year, the Scandinavian design brand presents five designs, ideal for creating a serene and elegant outdoor space with timeless pieces that will last for generations.

An outdoor dining area, under a parasol or under the stars, with tactile surfaces, refined proportions and exceptional durability: Bolia presents the Track table. Designed by Studio Nooi, this table was conceived to interact beautifully with the Nordic landscape. With its solid concrete or FSC®-certified (FSC® C165134) teak on a minimalist grey or black lacquered metal frame, it will look stunning in any outdoor space. The materials are carefully chosen for their durability and excellent weather-resistance, for a design that will stand the test of time.

Track Outdoor Sofa Series
Designed by Studio Nooi

From the same series, Bolia presents the Track Outdoor sofa. As an invitation to luxurious outdoor living, this sofa integrates seamlessly with the table of the same name. Its solid metal frame contains soft upholstered cushions. The armrests are particularly refined and feature a handwoven cord covering the metal to protect the user from temperature fluctuations. All fabric covers are removable, washable and replaceable. Woven in olefin-harmolan, a strong fiber made of polypropylene, they are water and stain resistant for worry-free outdoor living.

This year, Bolia presents an outdoor version of one of its classics: the Como coffee table. Designed by the duo Glismann & Rüdiger, Como Outdoor has the same elegant simplicity as the indoor version. However, it incorporates particularly durable materials, adapted to the natural environment. Como is available in different sizes and heights, to create an outdoor relaxation area that is almost custom-made.

Arke Outdoor Sofa Series
Designed by Studio Nooi

The Arke series by Studio Nooi includes lounge chairs and poufs. The modules can be assembled as desired and can thus be adapted to the needs and available space. The Arke pieces are characterized by generous and rounded volumes. In a garden or on a terrace, they invite you to enjoy relaxing summer days. Each module has removable and washable olefin covers. Delicate stitching along the curved lines highlights the unique shape and craftsmanship of these pieces.

Gap Flower Pots
Designed by Böttcher & Kayser

To bring the final touch to this space of outdoor relaxation, rest and conviviality, Bolia presents new designs in the Gap flowerpots series. Created by the German duo Böttcher & Kayser, the Gap flowerpots are made in light ceramic and come in all sizes. They are the perfect minimalist base for lush plants. The stackable design allows to create green landscapes in different heights and levels.

A true invitation to come and meet nature, this outdoor selection highlights the beauty of life as it blooms and reveals the delicate and joyful play of the rays of sunshine. A fresh and inspiring energy. All are designed by talented designers from around the world who share Bolia's passion for creativity and sustainability, and every piece comes with a 10-year warranty.
