

Story: Wooden tables that tell a story

Story is an elegant series of handcrafted coffee and side tables. The main source of inspiration for the designers, Anna Karnov and Clara Mahler, was the evolution of materials and the observation of the patina they acquire over time.

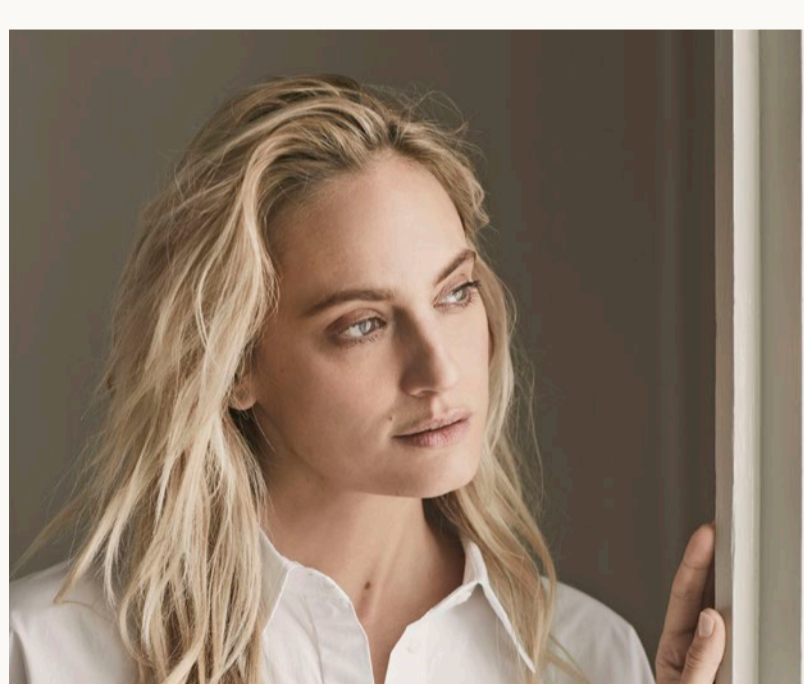

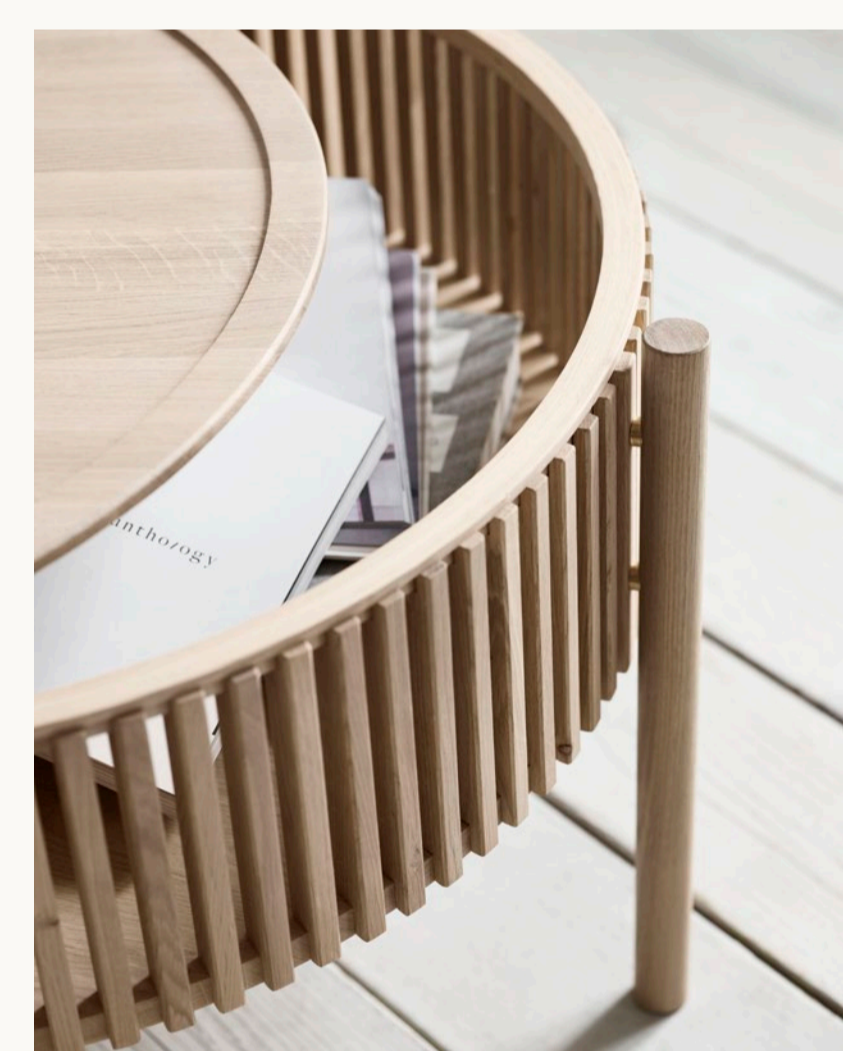

“Sometimes the patina of a piece of furniture is even more interesting than the object itself. Its history is hidden and expressed in these unique marks”, explains Story designers Anna Karnov and Clara Mahler. The ethereal expression and curves of these coffee and side tables give them a soothing look. “By creating a repeating pattern of many small pieces, the final look is complex but balanced”, add the designers.

Solid craftsmanship

Each piece of wood is carefully cut before being placed with great skill. Between these appears a light allowing the choice of exposing or hiding objects. Story meets different functional needs: display or storage, it will find its place in a children's room, in the living room or in a lobby or reception area.

Story tables are made from FSC® certified oak wood (FSC® C165134). Each table is a unique creation, telling its own story through its details, evolution and patina. “The choice of wood seemed obvious to us: it has an important place in the Scandinavian design tradition, and it is a natural material that is sustainable, durable, and ages gracefully”.

Anna Karnov & Clara Mahler

Anna Karnov and Clara Mahler are two Danish designers motivated by the desire to create harmony in the relationship between products and the user. Passing time is for the duo an inexhaustible source of inspiration, which they take pleasure in translating into the timeless and durable aspect of the finished product. This explains their choice of materials, which age gracefully and are not influenced by ephemeral trends.
